The Right to Privacy Campaign endorses the Report of the BC Information and Privacy Commissioner — "Privacy and the USA PATRIOT Act" — and calls for the implementation of all 16 of its recommendations.

The Right to Privacy Campaign agrees completely with the Commissioner's statement that "because there is a 'reasonable possibility' of unauthorized disclosure of British Columbians' personal information under the USA PATRIOT Act, 'rigorous other measures must be put into place to mitigate against (such) illegal and surreptitious access'."

The Right to Privacy Campaign endorses the full package of recommendations contained in the Privacy Commissioner's report as a package. Failure to implement even one of the recommendations would render the rest of the package ineffective.

The Right to Privacy Campaign calls on the provincial Government to suspend all further contracting out of information management services to US-linked companies until all 16 recommendations are fully implemented.
